The King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty in Council.

His Majeſty in Council was this Day pleaſed to appoint Walter Lloyd, of Coedmore, Eſq; Sheriff for the County of Cardigan.

Paris, Feb. 11. The Princeſs of Conti was brought to Bed the 6th Inſtant of a Son, who will bear the Title of Count d'Alaix. The Prince her Husband has been ill of a Fever; but having been bled twice, is now very well again. Baron Penterriedter, the Emperour's Miniſter at this Court, ſet out on the 8th Inſtant for Cambray, whither he will be followed ſhortly by M. de St. Conteſt one of the French Plenipotentiaries, and by Don Louis d'Acunha Ambaſſadour of Portugal, as alſo by ſeveral of the Italian Miniſters. The Duke d'Oſſuna has left the Hôtel of Ambaſſadours, where hitherto he had been entertained at the King's Expence, and has taken Poſſeſſion of the Houſe that became vacant by Baron Penterriedter's Departure, and which he has hired for ſix Months. Great Preparations are making here for the Reception of the Infanta, who is expected the firſt of next Month. The King is to go to meet her as far as Berny, a Houſe belonging to the Cardinal de Biſſy near Seaux; but the Duke Regent, and all the Princes and Princeſſes of the Blood, will go further. All the King's Houſhold Troops are ordered to be in readineſs againſt that Time; and the Infanta's Entry will be very magnificent. The following Extract of the Advices relating to the Plague received by the Court to the 3d of February, has been communicated to the foreign Miniſters.

M. de Bernage in his Letter of the 20th of January adviſes, that Marvejols had finiſhed its Quarantain the 10th without any Accident, and the Houſes were diſinfecting or perfuming. At Mende none had fallen ſick the 12th or 13th, and they were preparing to diſinfect the Houſes there. M. de Rambion writes, that it was proved the Man who died in the Pariſh of St. Marcel d'Ardeche in the Vivaretz was taken off by an Epileptick Fit: The Inhabitant of that Pariſh who had harboured him in his Houſe, was ſhot dead. A Man diſguiſed in Woman's Apparel, who could not produce a Bill of Health, and uſed Force againſt the Guard of Burghers at Aubenas, was likewiſe ſhot dead; his Body was buried with due Precaution, and a Piece of Linnen Cloth which he had with him to ſell was burnt. 14 Perſons who had been put under Quarantain at Aubenas, were diſcharged, it appearing by the Report of three Surgeons that a Woman who died ſuddenly, which occaſioned their being put under Quarantain, had a Diſtemper on her Lungs. Count de la Saume was dead at la Motte, but not of a contagious Diſtemper as had been at firſt believed. Laurac grows better and better. All the reſt of the Vivaretz is in perfect Health. M. de Vieuſſan a Phyſician at Alais, in his of the 19th of January writes, that two or three Perſons a Day fell ill there of the Plague: In the Suburbs were 35 ſick, moſt of whom were out of Danger; ſeveral had Tumours or Sores, but without being otherwiſe diſordered, ſo that it was judged the Diſtemper was on the Decline. M. de Gibertain, in his of the 16th and 19th of January writes, that Bagars, Ribaut, Salindres, and St. Paul la Coſte, were in a good State of Health. The Line along the Tarne was well kept. The reſt of the Sevennes was in good Health.

Provence. The Marqueſs de Brancas in his of the 17th of January adviſes, that he had newly been to view the Blockade of Salon, and at the Barrier ſpoke with the Conſul, Phyſicians and Surgeons, who aſſured him that for 85 Days none had been taken ſick. The Diſinfection had been performed with great Exactneſs; they were about to perform a General Quarantain. M. le Bret writes the 18th of January, that Alauch continued without any Perſons newly taken ſick: Some fell ill from time to time at Beſſe and at Roquebruſſanne: The Marqueſs de Brancas was going to ſend thither two experienced Officers, who had had good Succeſs at other Places.

The Comtat. The Chevalier de Morangy writes the 11th of January, that there remains but very little of the Plague at Orange. M. Suſſelange the commanding Officer of the ſecond Battallion of the Regiment of Auvergne, writes the 19th of January, that Avignon is better, that no more than 25 had died there ſince the 16th of January, and ſeven had fallen ſick. The reſt of the Comtat is in a good State of Health, except Sarian where a little of the Plague yet remained.

St. James's, Feb. 3. This Day came Advice, that her Highneſs Eleonora Dutcheſs of Zell, Relict of Duke George William, died at Zell on the 5th of February, N. S. at Ten in the Morning. As her Highneſs had paſſed her Life with Exemplary Virtue and Piety, her Death was generally much lamented, and eſpecially by many Families who had been ſeveral Years ſubſiſted by her Bounty and Charity. She was to be interred on the 11th of February, N. S. in a Vault of the Church of Zell near the Body of the Duke her Husband. This Court goes into Mourning for her on Sunday next.
